Assistant Professor (Postdoctoral Fellow) in Economics

Job description

The position is a four-year research position with 25 % teaching and administrative duties. In Norway, the majority of assistant professorships are fixed-term appointments for up to four years, primarily intended to qualify candidates for a career in academia. The position is partially funded by the Research Council of Norway under a grant on Climate Change Risk and International Cooperation, headed by Professor Christian Traeger. We seek a diverse pool of applicants.

Qualifications and Personal Skills

Applicants are assessed based on scientific merit, skill, suitability for the project, teaching, and personal qualifications. We will also consider the thematic relevance of ongoing research and research plans for the project and for the Department's teaching obligations and long-term academic development. The position requires a subset of the following interests and skills (in order of approximate priority)

- Climate Change Economics
- Dynamic Modeling
- Risk and Uncertainty Modeling
- Strategic International Cooperation
- Programming, e.g., Matlab, Python, or Julia
- International Macroeconomics and Macrofinance
- Applied Econometrics

Applicants should be near completion of the doctoral degree so that the requirements are fulfilled by September 30th 2022. Successful completion of a doctoral degree is a prerequisite for taking up the position.

We offer

- A starting pay between NOK X - X in position as Postdoctoral Fellow (SKO1352)
- An academically stimulating working environment (relying on communication in English)
- A mentoring program
- Good pension benefits under the Norwegian Public Service Pension Fund scheme
- Good welfare benefits

Applications

The application must include

- cover letter (statement of motivation and brief summary of experience and research interest)
- CV
- Research Statement
- a complete list of publications
- up to 3 papers
- Letters of Recommendation (optional)

The application with attachments must be submitted in our electronic recruiting system, please follow the link "apply for this job". Please note that all documents should be in English (or a Scandinavian language).

An interview will be a part of the appointment process, and candidates may be invited to give a seminar.

Application deadline: January 24th, 2022
